250-foot cell tower proposed in W'stock

By ALISON ALOISIO

An application for a 250-foot communications tower, to be located near the Dudley Road, was presented to the Woodstock Planning Board Tuesday.

Spectrum Resource Towers of Portland would place the structure on leased land adjacent to Central Maine Power's transmission line, which runs near the Dudley Road.

Several abutters attended the meeting and asked questions about the proposed project, located about .4 mile up Dudley Road from Route 26.

Maureen Hopkins, an agent for ATC Realty, which is representing Spectrum, presented the application. She said the leased 100-by-100-foot lot would contain a 75-foot-square tower compound. The land would be leased from Alan Twitchell.

The compound would be bordered by an eight-foot high chain link fence, topped with barbed wire.

The triangular-based tower would provide transmission for six carriers, Hopkins said.

Lighting

The tower would be lit at night with a solid red light halfway to the top. The top would be lit with a flashing red light.

During the day, the top would be lit by an upward-pointed white flashing light.

The tower would not have guy wires, Hopkins said. It would be supported by a concrete base extending seven feet into the ground.

She said the base would be composed of 80,000 pounds of concrete and 25,000 pounds of rebar.

The structure is designed to withstand 90 mile-per-hour sustained winds and 120 mph gusts, even if it is encased in a half-inch of ice, Hopkins said.

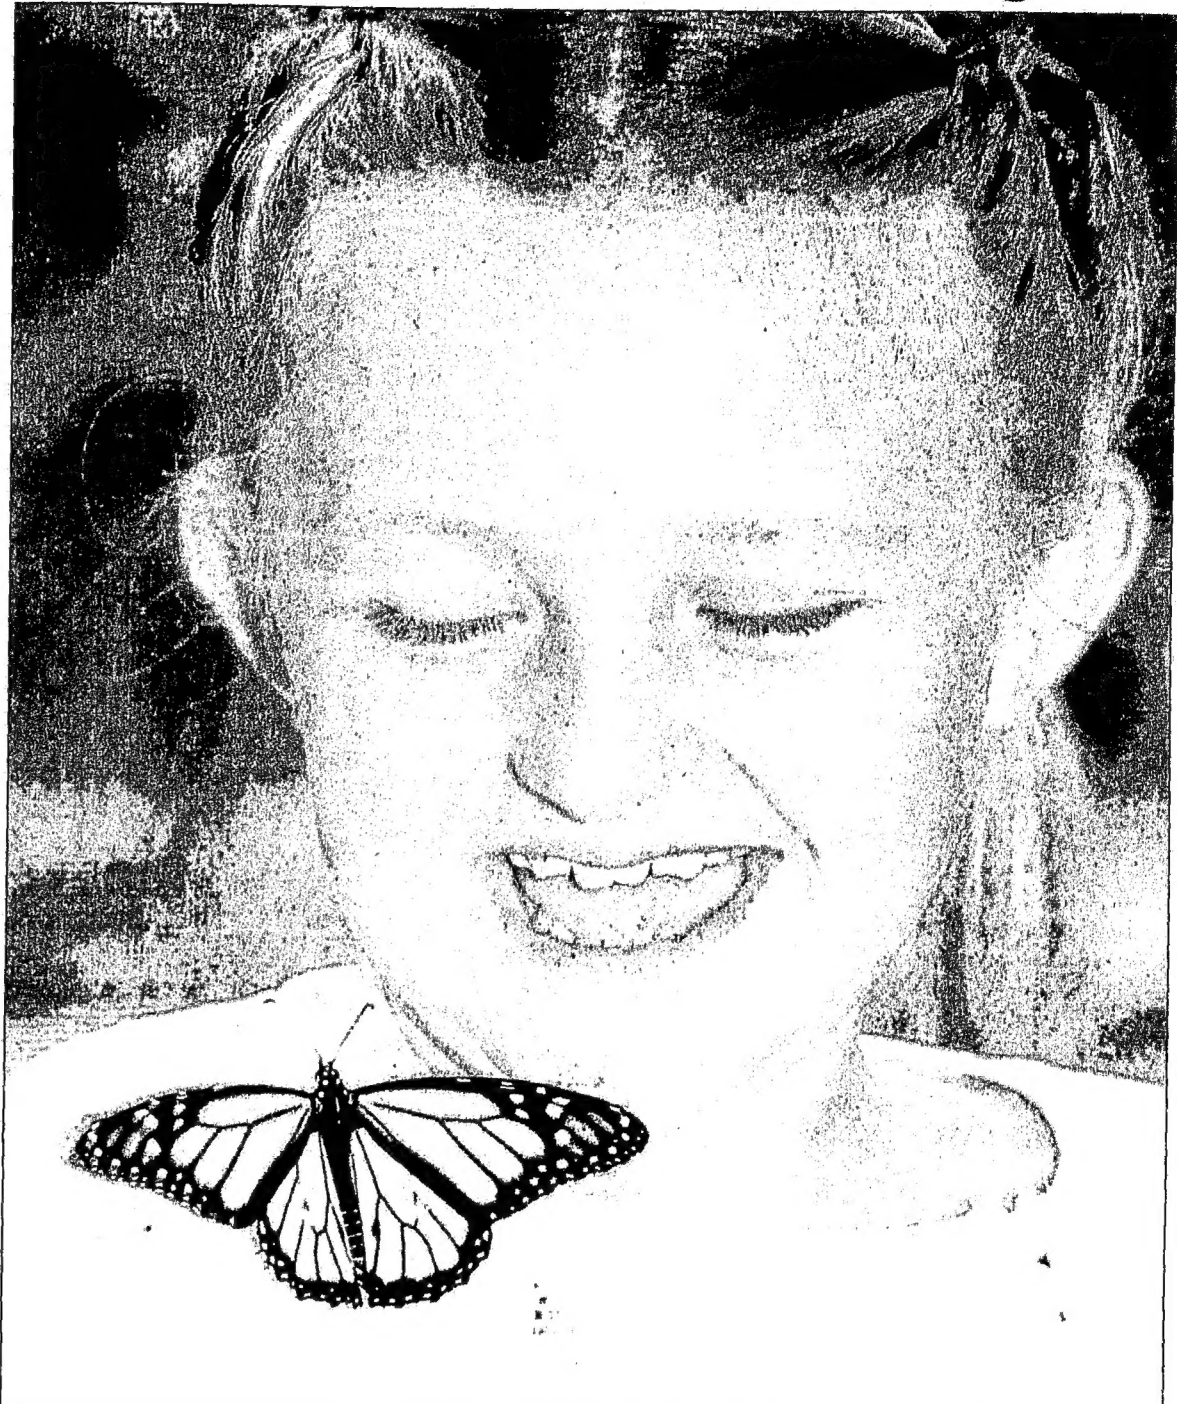

Planners had expressed some concern that the tower might topple onto the CMP transmission lines, located 75 feet away.

Hopkins said if wind and weather conditions exceeded the tower's design specifications, "I can guarantee you the electric poles would be long gone."

One abutter asked if the Planning Board would take

Andover class takes part in nationwide monarch study

By ALISON ALOISIO

Watching a monarch butterfly emerge from a chrysalis is a time-honored, start-of-the-school year tradition. But the kids in Roger Sabin's third/fourth-grade class at the Andover Elementary School have taken the activity to a new level.

They are part of a nationwide, 30-state butterfly tagging program that provides information to the University of Kansas.

Each September the insects embark on the species' annual migration to Mexico. The program helps to trace the insects' 2,400-mile flight to their wintering grounds.

Finding the caterpillars

This is the third season Sabin's class has taken part in the study. It starts the same way any classroom monarch project would, by gathering the caterpillars.

This year was a challenge, however, because of an apparent local shortage. Try as they did at the start of school, the kids couldn't find any on the insects' favorite food — the milkweed plant.

"I looked in the best milkweed place in the world, my grandfather's field," said Zach Morton, but there were none to be found.

Fortunately, they were able to find eight caterpillars on milkweed growing just outside their classroom window, next to the school's front steps.

They brought the caterpillars and milkweed into the school, and began their watch.

"We watched the different stages," said Jacob O'Leary.

They saw the insects fatten themselves on the plant, then spin their green, gold-flecked cocoons, or chrysalides.

The chrysalides slowly changed color to reveal the orange-and-black color of the

G'wood wants address numbers put up

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Greenwood residents who don't have address numbers on their homes will soon be hearing from the town.

With many homes still lacking the numbers required by Greenwood's Addressing Ordinance, selectmen are concerned that in an emergency, responders might lose crucial time trying to locate the source of an E911 call.

'It's quite a big mess. I worry about rescue squads — if it gives me trouble finding a place, it's certainly going to give them even more trouble.'

FRED HENDERSON
Addressing Officer

"At least 50 percent of the places around town don't have any numbers up," said Fred Henderson, chairman of the Board of Selectmen and the town's official "addressing officer."

"It's quite a big mess," Henderson said. "I worry about rescue squads — if it gives me trouble finding a place, it's certainly going to give them even more trouble."

Henderson said he is puzzled why so many people don't put the numbers up, but he thought denial might be a factor.

"I kind of get the feeling a lot of them don't think they're ever going to need [emergency response]," he said.

Security of a different sort was the concern of one woman in town who was reluctant to put up her numbers.

"Her camp is sort of in back, away from things," Henderson

Large rental 'homes' may really be 'hotels'

And could face stricter health and safety regulations

By ALISON ALOISIO

As the number of single-family vacation homes in the Bethel area continues to grow, so too does the size of some of the houses — so much so that some offered for rent in Newry may fall into the "hotel" category.

And that's a safety worry, according to Rich St. John, the code enforcement officer for Newry and Bethel.

It's another aspect of a larger rental issue that has emerged both in the Bethel area and statewide, especially on the coast.

Last year some local "licensed" lodging businesses complained that they were operating at a disadvantage with "unlicensed" (private) rentals.

The licensed owners argued that, unlike their unlicensed competitors, they are forced to comply with costly health and safety regulations.

They also had to collect a 7 percent sales tax on their rentals, a tax not levied on private rentals.

In July that tax was extended to private rentals, leveling that part of the playing field, but the health and safety issues remain, especially with larger rental properties.

More than 16 people By definition, a hotel is a building or group of buildings under the same management in which there are sleeping accommodations for more than 16 people ("transients").

That number of people triggers a state Life Safety Code requirement that the lodging place have fire sprinklers, emergency lighting and lighted exits.

St. John has encountered at least two instances in which homeowners offered their houses for rent for more than

GUARD TRAINING AT BOG BROOK

Two dozen National Guardsmen from the 240th Engineering Group, based in Augusta, were at the Bog Brook Training Center in Gilead this week for instruction that included land navigation, warrior training and patrol and convoy operations. The guardsmen, from all over Maine, are learning the skills in preparation for possible deployment to Iraq. On Tuesday, the soldiers practiced locating specific checkpoints in the woods around the center using GPS and compasses. Here, Sgt. Ed Waite uses a compass as Sgt. Dennis Sayce looks on. Sayce is an Iraq veteran, serving with a New Hampshire Guard unit. In the shorter term, it is possible the Maine soldiers could be sent to New Orleans to aid in hurricane recovery, according to Command Sgt. Maj. Paul Luce. The guardsmen could be responsible for projects such as overseeing road and public facility repairs.

Airport apron work nearing completion

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The most recent upgrade to the Bethel Airport is moving ahead smoothly and should be completed ahead of schedule, according to Airport Manager Scott Cole.

The $629,000 project will add 2.2 acres of paved area to the airport apron.

Construction work, which began in early August, is expected to be complete in late October.

The bulk of the financing comes from the federal government, which is kicking in $597,550.

The balance, $31,450, is split between the state and town of Bethel.

Bethel's portion, $15,725, was approved by voters at this year's annual Town Meeting.

In conjunction with the apron work, the town is spending another $15,000 to relocate the terminal building.

Five thousand dollars of that has gone to installing a new septic system, which will be in place when the current terminal building — small and aging — is eventually replaced.

The new apron will allow the number of tie-downs at the airport to increase to 18, from the current eight.

The new tie-downs will be of higher quality, Cole said, and all will be located on pavement (half the current number are unpaved).

The new apron will also make it possible for helicop-

IT'S ALL ABOUT THE SOCCER

To the Editor:

I am writing to praise the four young ladies who are following their hearts this season by playing soccer at Telstar Regional High School. Jen Aldrich, Liz Meisner, Kelsea Kuvaja, and Eva Thornton are all fine athletes on the JV team. They love the game and are sticking with it even though it isn't easy at times. They face pressure to play field hockey, rumors about playing time, unkind comments from opposing teams, and the risks that come with playing with bulkier male teammates and opponents. Despite all that, they display immense determination and should be congratulated for being true to themselves and dedicated to their team.

These girls and many of their teammates began playing team soccer as youngsters at SAD44's elementary schools. They continued in middle school where they developed their skills — along with a great sense of teamwork and fair play — with the guidance of their exceptional coaches, Mark Kenney and Greg Luetje. They are now carrying that love of the game, pride in their team, and endless spirit with them to the THS soccer field every day.

Obviously these girls are playing on the boys' team because girls' soccer doesn't exist at THS. Perhaps it will someday. In a survey of Telstar Regional High School and Middle School students last year, more than enough girls to field a team at both schools said they'd play girls' soccer if it were offered. It's not surprising, given the established feeder program for young players offered by town and school teams in the area.

All but two of the opposing high schools in Telstar's interscholastic division have girls' soccer teams, so there will be plenty of competition when Telstar girls' soccer becomes a reality.

It may be a while, however, according to THS Principal Shawn Lambert, as budget constraints have delayed efforts to start a girls' soccer team. (Parents and other SAD44 residents who would like to see girls' soccer established should contact Lambert and/or a school board member.) Also to consider is the fact that field space is already maxed out with the current roster of fall sports. And of course, the addition of any new sport will require an examination under Title IX — the federal law that requires fairness and balance between girls' and boys' sports at the high school (and college) level.

Those are all challenges yet to be addressed, and nothing that Jen, Liz, Kelsea, and Eva are concerned with right now. It's all about the game for them and their teammates, so come on up to the THS soccer field and cheer on these great athletes — girls and boys — as they give it all they've got in every game.

FUNDRAISING FOR CPS BOSTON TRIP

To the Editor:

The Crescent Park School fifth-grade class is planning their annual field trip to Boston for May 2006. We would first like to take this opportunity to thank all those who have helped in getting us started with our fundraising efforts, including: The Bethel Rotary Club for allowing us to take part in their annual auction and yard sale; Bryant Pond Redemption for their help in the continuous task of bottle and can collecting; Bethel Chamber of Commerce for our space at the eighth annual Harvest Fest; John Carter for the donation of pumpkins; and Telstar Video for the use of their popcorn machine.

We would also like to make the community aware of several fundraising functions we will be sponsoring over the next few months. Donations of clean, empty bottles and cans can be deposited in the containers located adjacent to the Bethel Ambulance building. A scheduled Bethel area roadside pick-up of redemption items is also being arranged; keep your eyes on The Citizen for dates/times/locations for added convenience. On Oct. 2, the fifth-grade class is holding a bottle drive in the surrounding community, from 1 to 5 p.m. Any parent willing to help drive a selected route with the fifth-graders, please call Jeremy or Becky Morin at 836-2243.

The students are selling the ever-popular Yankee Candle home decoration and candle products through Monday, Oct. 3. If you do not know a fifth-grader in your area, Nancy Annis would be very willing to help you. Nancy can be reached at 824-3249.

Another Scrapbooking Night will be held Friday, Oct. 14, at 4 p.m. for all to attend. The Scrap Meet will immediately follow in the CPS cafeteria. The meet is limited to 25 people at $15 per person. Sign up at the CPS administrative office to reserve your spot. Walk-ins welcome at the door provided the space is available. Food and beverages will be available.

Look for us at the annual CPS Craft Fair to order your holiday wreath. The annual Winter Auction will take place again in December. Donations of gifts and services by many area businesses and residents make this a great way to do that last-minute holiday shopping.

REMEMBERING CHARLENE HAINES

To the Editor:

The Bethel Historical Society lost a life member this week with the death of Charlene Haines. Few have ever faced such health challenges as she did throughout her lifetime and especially during the last few years. And even fewer carried the burden of such misfortune as well as she did with such great courage and a thoroughly positive attitude.

Despite her increasingly precarious health status and as long as she could gather the strength to do it, Charlene continued to bake biscuits for Alder River Grange's public suppers. Even though members of the Grange urged her to take it easy, she insisted on doing what she could. Hot biscuits were even delivered by her with a smile and friendly greeting.

What a "profile in courage" she will always represent for me. Despite deteriorating health that would have left most of us "mere mortals" bedridden and desperate, she maintained her optimistic frame of mind and concern for others to the end. How she managed to do this with all the odds she faced will always be, to my mind, one of the great celebrations of the human spirit.

WATER SUPERINTENDENT SAYS THANKS

To the Editor:

On Aug. 14, Bethel Water District staff discovered a serious water leak at our river-crossing main that lies at the bottom of the Androscoggin River. The leak was approximately forty or so feet out in the river from the Murphy's property.

With help from the Bethel Fire Department, a boat was launched so we could get a better assessment of the leak. Don Katlin and I donned some diving masks and had a look. What we saw was similar to what was posted in the Bethel Citizen dated Aug. 25. At this point, we located two divers, one local and one from Jay. They had a crash course from Don Katlin on how to try to repair this leak. This attempt failed.

Our next step was to activate our emergency plan for losing the river crossing. Bethel Fire Department was called on for assistance. In turn they called Newry, Gilead, and Greenwood fire departments.

Within an hour all four departments were on site and ready to place this emergency plan into effect. The emergency plan required approximately 3,100 feet of 2-1/2 inch fire hoses, running parallel from the hydrant at the Norseman Inn to the hydrant at Telstar Video Store. All this hose had to be placed through culverts, under and over the bridge, and dragged behind businesses to reach each hydrant.

While this was happening the weather changed to rain and made it more challenging. It took only 3-1/2 hours to complete the connection, and water production was restored at half of our average flow rate.

Having this emergency plan in place in 3-1/2 hours is remarkable. This could not have been achieved in a timely manner without the help of the Bethel, Newry, Gilead, and Greenwood fire departments.

I was so impressed how the different departments worked together. It was like a fine-tuned machine. Everyone knew what to do and how to do it.

I would like to say thank you to those towns and each and every fireman for their assistance. We are very fortunate to have well-trained and committed firemen. When your local fire department is in need of new or specialized equipment, say yes and help them get it. If they need to get more specialized training, say yes and help them get it. Your life or quality of life may depend on it.

I would also like to thank all our customers who conserved water and a special thanks to Michael Bean, who changed the hours of the Laundromat to close early, Yvon's Carwash for shutting down and lost revenue for three weeks (show your appreciation and go vacuum or get your car washed at Yvon's), Jack Cross and his great crew for the quick installation of the new river crossing (completed ahead of schedule and under budget), the Norseman Inn, the Murphy's, and Parsons' Campground for the use of their property, Bethel Police Department for extra patrols, A.E. Hodson Consulting Engineers, Aqua Maine for leaving the lab open, Waterworks Diving Service who took video and attempted two other repairs of the old main, Maine Waterworks Supply, Rumford Water District, Maine Rural Water Association (Mike McDonald and Ron Boivin), Bethel Public Works and Wastewater Treatment Plant personnel, and The Bethel Citizen for reporting and informing the public of events accurately.

Another special "thank you" to the Water District Trustees, John Head, Mike Broderick, and Josiah Drummond. They handled all press releases, communications with Sen. Snow, Sen. Collins, the Governor's Office, and other administrative work. A big "Thank You" to my assistant superintendent, Don Katlin, and his family. Donnie, you did not complain once about the extra hours worked or weekends lost at your camp. You went above and beyond and you took some of the load off of me. Thanks. Callie Colby, for great bookkeeping of this mess. Thank you Tina, my wife, for understanding and making the long weeks easier.

If I missed anyone, please forgive me.

ters to land without kicking up a storm of dust and gravel, and it will increase frontage space for future hangars and provide better access to fueling points — including a future "Jet A" fuel pump.

The last major upgrade at the airport was in 2001, when the runway was extended to 3,818 feet (from 3,150) and widened by 15 feet.

The cost of that work was $2.24 million.

Airport upgrade projects are laid out in the 10-year Airport Master Plan, which was approved by town voters in 1996.

Future projects include purchasing dedicated snow-removal equipment (the airport is currently plowed with town equipment), upgrading the terminal facility, and — on the 10- to 20-year horizon — identifying sites on the surrounding hills for navigational lights, Cole said.

Tax rate set

BETHEL — At its September 21 meeting, the Bethel Board of Assessors adopted a tax rate of $17.68 per thousand of taxable value, the lowest rate allowable under statute. This rate is applicable to Fiscal Year 2006, which runs from July 1, 2005 through June 30, 2006. The rate now creates a total tax levy of approximately $3.7 million, spread across $211 million of taxable property in Bethel. A rate of $17.68 per thousand represents an increase of 14 percent over the previous rate of $15.50, which had been held flat the past two years. The tax levy will now be used to meet a school assessment of $2,109,268, county assessment of $189,076 and cover about 60 percent of Bethel's municipal expenditure of $2,585,369.

New ordinance in the works

ANDOVER — As real estate development heats up, Planning Board members are working quickly to draw up a site plan review ordinance to aid them in regulating land use. A 5,000-acre subdivision proposal is currently before the board. Andover currently has only subdivision, shoreland zoning and road ordinances. Board members, working in consultation with a representative of the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments, hope to have a draft ordinance ready in two weeks.

Universal waste vote delayed

NORWAY — Approval for a plan to institute a Universal Waste program through the Oxford County Solid Waste and Recycling Corporation has been delayed because the OCSWRC board did not have a quorum for its meeting last week. Information will be provided after the board votes on the proposal.

Supper to benefit Katrina victims

STONEHAM — A spaghetti supper benefiting the victims of Hurricane Katrina will take place Saturday, Sept. 24, from 5 to 8:30 p.m. at the Stoneham Rescue Station in Stoneham (Butters Hill Road/Route 5 intersection). Adults are $6 and children 12 and under $3. All proceeds will be distributed through the Waterford/Stoneham Lions Club to Lions clubs in the Gulf Coast region to aid victims of the hurricane.

ChildSafe Firearms program

Project ChildSafe (PCS), the nation's largest firearm safety program, will host a community safety day event on Sunday, Sept. 25, from noon to 6 p.m. at the Mexico Wal-Mart. This is part of a four-day tour in Maine during which the program will conduct several events in order to inform and educate all firearm owners on key safety issues. PCS will give community members an opportunity to interact with local law enforcement and receive a free gunlock with educational materials.

Twps. vouchers at transfer station

ALBANY/MASON — Any residents of Albany or Mason who wish to bring household hazardous waste items to the SAD44 bus garage Saturday for disposal are asked to first obtain a voucher at the Waterford/Albany/Stoneham transfer station. Vouchers are available today (Thursday) between noon and 4 p.m. or Saturday morning after 8 a.m. There is no charge. The hours for disposal at the bus garage are 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

CORRECTION

Household hazardous waste disposal cost — An article in last week's Citizen should have said the disposal cost for residents who do not have vouchers (available in most town offices), or who bring more waste than the voucher covers to the disposal site, is approximately $25 per 5 gallons of liquid, or 20 pounds of dry waste. The waste will be collected Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the SAD44 bus garage in Bethel.

Friday, Sept. 16

Thursday, Sept. 15
At 6:40 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White responded to Mason Street for a harassment complaint. Two subjects were warned.

At 8:40 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White responded to Mason Street for an unwanted subject. The subject left before the officer arrived.

Wednesday, Sept. 14
At 5:44 a.m. Officer Travis Fillmore stopped a vehicle on the Songo Pond Road for a defect. Harold Hinkley, 37, of Albany was given a summons for operating after suspension.

At 1 p.m. Chief Alan Carr issued a summons to F&B Wood Corp. on the North Road in Gilead for passing a stopped school bus.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

Monarchs

growing monarch within. Then, said Morton, "we saw the first one hatch."

The kids learned not only by observing but also by reading that the butterflies' wings are very crinkled when they emerge, and their abdomens are about three times the normal size.

That's because the insect's blood is at first all concentrated in the abdomen. It slowly pumps out to the wings, straightening and stiffening them.

Several of the new butterflies flew to the classroom window and clung to the screen.

A tiny tag That's when the tagging, a practice usually associated with larger animals, begins.

The round tags, provided by the "Monarch Watch" study program, are adhesive-backed. They are gently placed on one of the butterfly's rear wings.

Each tag carries an identification number, as well as the Web address and phone number of the program.

When the wings are strong enough, the insects are released. Sabin's class turned their butterflies free late last week.

Third-grader Taran Vitale let two of the insects go:

"First I let the butterfly go on a purple flower in front of the school," he said. "The second [butterfly] started to sip the nectar out of the flower. It was amazing! The proboscis immediately uncurled itself."

The proboscis works like a straw, enabling the butterfly to sip nectar.

Following the release the class can later check the study's web site to see if any of their Monarchs have been netted.

Some 60,000 tags are distributed annually to schools participating in the program. The odds of the three dozen butterflies released so far by Sabin's classes being captured are not high, and so far, none have been recorded.

In addition, the Maine butterflies have the greatest distance to fly in the continental U.S.

But the more schools that participate, the greater the overall capture rate.

And the AES' kids have learned plenty, they said, regardless of whether they learn the fate of their butterflies.

For example, said Nicholas Conrad, "We learned that the caterpillars have poor eyesight, but the butterflies have good eyesight."

And, said Vitale, the western butterflies are bigger than the northern ones. They migrate to California rather than Mexico.

Rentals

20 people. And the CEO is on the lookout for more.

"If people have been staying [in a rental home] for less than a month, they don't know where things are, and they need protection," he said. "I'm not trying to drive anyone out of business, I just want the transient occupancy to be safe."

And if a guest were injured, St. John said, the owner of a home that does not meet the safety standards could find himself in court.

St. John has been in touch with the State Fire Marshal's Office about homes in the area that appear to be in violation.

One three-story home, for example, was advertised on the Internet with eight bedrooms and room for 26 people.

St. John said that house was eventually defined by the marshal's office as having a single-family residence on the top floors and a rental on the first.

As long as the top floors remain a single-family residence and the bottom is rented to 16 or less, it appears to be compliant, St. John said.

Another, four-bedroom home, he said, is advertised for up to 23 people.

In some cases, homeowners just don't realize they have put themselves into the hotel category, St. John said.

But whether they do or not, providing lodging in such circumstances is against the law. The Board of Selectmen can decide to take a noncompliant homeowner to court, said St. John.

"I hope for voluntary compliance," he said. "But we'd be remiss in allowing more [such homes]. We catch what we can when we can catch them."

Addresses

said, "and she was afraid the number would make it more noticeable."

The selectmen hope a letter from the town — specifying a firm deadline for putting the numbers up, and threatening a fine for people who don't — will help to overcome such reluctance.

Every Maine community has the legal authority to create physical addresses, under Municipal Home Rule Powers, Article VIII, Part 2, Section 1 of the Constitution of the State of Maine and Title 30-A M.R.S.A. Section 3001.

And Greenwood's Addressing Ordinance gives the town the authority to enforce the numbering.

The ordinance, which was adopted in 1996, stipulates that the street numbers assigned by the town must be posted near the front door or entry of dwellings.

If the dwelling is more than 50 feet from the road right of way, the number must be posted on a post, fence, wall, mailbox or other structure next to the walk or access drive to the dwelling.

The ordinance applies to all roads, public or private, paved or dirt, that serve (or can serve) two or more properties.

The posted numbers must be visible from the road, and at least four inches in height. The color must be bronze or gold, or another color which contrasts with the background color.

Deadline and fine

The selectmen have asked Town Manager Kim Sparks to draft two separate letters regarding addressing, one to go to year-round, the other to seasonal residents.

The letters will remind the recipients of the need to post their address numbers, and will set deadlines for doing so.

Specific deadlines have not yet been set, but the dates discussed have been Jan. 1 for year-round residents, and sometime early next summer for seasonal residents (who may not currently be in town).

The fine of $50 for failure to comply has also been discussed.

In nearby Woodstock, Town Manager Vern Maxfield said the percentage of homes without numbers is probably similar to that in Greenwood.

Woodstock also has an addressing ordinance, he said, but the town is not currently planning any enforcement action.

Nonetheless, Maxfield added, he would still encourage residents to get their numbers up.

"That's what the system is there for," he said.

THE ADDRESS MAN COMETH—Fred Henderson, chairman of the Greenwood Board of Selectmen and addressing officer for the town, measures a hilly road in South Pond Shores, in order to assign address numbers for new construction. All such construction is required to have address number posted before being occupied, but Henderson concedes the requirement is often ignored — which can be a detriment to the safety of the inhabitants. Tower into consideration possible loss of valuation to abutting properties as a result of the tower construction.

Chairman Norm Putnam said town ordinances do not specifically address the issue.

But, he said, the board does look generally at the impact on adjacent properties and tries to minimize it.

Planners asked for more detail about drainage around the tower. An engineer is expected to attend the board's next meeting on Oct. 4, when consideration of the project will continue.

A site visit by planners is also expected to take place in the near future. Putnam said a decision will also be made whether to hold a public hearing.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston

Friends of Mary and Chuck Millard from New Orleans spent the past week at the Millard home on Chapman Street. They have returned to New Orleans.

The Bethel Library quilt made by Cross Country Quilters was won by Nelson Smith of Gilead.

Colleen Boyd is a patient at the Norway Rehab in Norway.

Ray and Joan Cole have returned to Bethel after spending the summer at Belgrade Lake.

The Barn Dance at A Prodigal Inn in Mayville last Saturday evening was fun and a great success. The Richard Felt Band played from 7 to 10 p.m. The barn itself was very interesting. This was the former Dana Douglass Place.

Susan White of Lisbon Falls, daughter of Amy Davis, has been assigned a pastorate at the Damariscotta Methodist Church. She has been attending Bangor Theological Seminary to master in religion. Amy and Mike Davis visited her on Sunday.

Suzzy Harrington's neighbor, Rick Gilman (GA '55) and his wife, Marla, will be in Bethel from Sept. 24 to Oct. 7. They will be staying at the Grand Jordan Hotel at Sunday River and would like to see as many old friends, classmates and acquaintances as possible.

News from Mayville by Donald Bennett:

For the past 10 days, Don Bennett, Bennett's Logging, has had a crew doing very selective cutting of pine on the Thurston's property in Mayville. Last Wednesday, a friend of mine and I watched the work going on only a few hundred yards west of the Mayville Road. What impressed us is the sophistication of the two major pieces of equipment and the almost zero damage to the area being logged. Later Don told me that the harvester we watched could also be equipped with a computer system that scaled each log as it was being cut and could keep a running tally of board feet cut that day. He also said that the receiving mill would scale all deliveries anyway. The logs we saw being loaded were headed for the Hancock Lumber mill in South Bethel.

Deerview Road is Mayville's only new addition to the Bethel 911 road database since Bethel's 911 street plan was established 10 years ago. This road connects Mayville Road (US Route 2) to a neighborhood of new homes that was planned by Rich and Ron Savage; Beech Lane is a stem leading from Deerview Road into the largest, as far as we can see, wilderness, layout of lots within the development. Beech Lane ends as a cul-de-sac with an impressive circle of stones at its center.

Friday afternoon, Sept. 16, Kathy and I went for one of our occasional sightseeing walks into this new neighborhood. On reaching Deerview Road's crest we disturbed an eagle perched in a tall pine tree. He flew south above the road, flashing his white tail feathers into our face as he disappeared westwards. Maybe he was also admiring the stretches of roadside stone walls as we do on our walks.

Beginning in the spring of 2004, two new homes had been finished. On our walk this day we saw three other lots with houses in various stages of construction. A number of "sold" or "under construction" signs are posted at the opening to vacant lots.

At this stage of the development's progress, the building style fits well into Mayville's 19th Century "garden" of home styles. New home owners in this neighborhood have chosen building styles that mirror the 19th Century houses but have that fresh look like a garden's new plant sprouts emerging among the older ones, same species but with a 21st Century look.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

Another week without frost. How lucky can we get. The downside is that the foliage remains green. The color will begin when Jack Frost makes his initial sting.

The hummingbirds are still here. Some must be flight birds, but this is not so unusual. According to Walter Stancozy's records, the hummers were around last year until the 24th of September.

Saturday, several residents attended the Bethel Harvest Fest. It was very good. The various crafts and art works were different than at the Molyokett festival. The hit of the day were the apple pies and the various chowders. There were many more pies than last year. All were different. All were excellent. On the whole, in spite of a misty rain, it was a very good way to spend a few hours.

The State Line Snowmobile Club held their first meeting of the new season by having a picnic. It was well attended and everyone had a good time.

We still have the little moose roving around the perimeter of the lake. I'm sure the coyotes howling at night are aware of its presence. We hope the little guy makes it.

Buster Williamson is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital in Lewiston. We miss him big time.

Clyde Stratton, who went back to New Jersey to see his doctor, came away with a clean bill of health. The next bill he experiences will be his doctor's bill.

Mill Road was busy over the weekend. The selectmen and road commissioner met to discuss paving the bad spots on the road. FEMA will absorb a percentage of the costs. Other roads affected will also receive attention, if they have not already had it.

We have a turkey explosion going on from Grafton Notch to Errol. On every trip to Errol as many as twenty birds are seen. I saw a flock on Route 26 in Newry and another flock on the Mayville Road in Bethel. Al Gagnon has 20 birds, so there are quite a few around.

The scarecrows and fall displays at the homes and business in Bethel are very nice.

It is an "apple year" up north. A bumper crop is seen everywhere. Al Gagnon has a field full of wild apple trees just loaded with apples. The deer and the bear will love them. Buster's McIntosh tree is loaded. While he was away in the hospital I took advantage of the situation and stole a basket full for a pie. I knew he wouldn't mind, and I just saved him the trouble of bringing them to me. Any alibi is a good alibi.

A Community Yard Sale is planned for Saturday, Oct. 1. Everybody is welcome to bring their objects. We would like the whole town to take advantage and rid themselves of things they no longer find a need for.

Joan and Dave Miller and Richard and I were invited to a boiled dinner at Jeanette and Lionel Roy's home on East "B" Hill Sunday evening. It was a great meal, appreciated by all.

Sunday afternoon, to escape the sport programs on the tube, I migrated to Bethel to see "The Penguins March" at the Casablanca. It was an hour and a half well spent. The emperor penguins are so remarkable in that most frigid spot on earth. We haven't seen a penguin recently in Upton. It's far too warm for them, but they are definitely the "Birds of the Week."

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

It was a delight to see the sun again on Monday morning, after four days of gloom, mist, and downpours. I have to say, this seems to be an unusually mild fall so far. Here we are in the last half of September and there has been as yet no killing frost. Is that some kind of record?

Overheard at the corner store: someone spotted a bear and her cub on Mountain View Circle last Saturday. I told Jane Hosterman, and she decided to be sure to have a flashlight with her when she goes out to the compost pile at night.

Jennifer Vien, one of the store's proprietors, told me that they will start advertising a weekly special with a coupon, so watch for that in The Citizen. She also wants people to know that she and Fred have moved a table and chairs into the store, by popular demand. Now you can have your coffee and pastry in comfort.

We spent a few days last week camping at Cobscook Bay State Park, way down east in Dennysville. We are so lucky to have places like Cobscook to escape to. We had three beautiful days: went canoeing; saw a bald eagle, loons, and seals; visited Campobello Island, where friends are fixing up a vacation house; ate lobster; hiked the Gold Coast Trail at Cutler.

The Gold Coast Trail, the last piece of undeveloped coastline in the state, was purchased some ten or twelve years ago with Land for Maine's Future monies. The state has done a marvelous job of building trails and maintaining the property so that it is user friendly but maintains its rugged, wild character. We backpacked there when it first opened and were pleased to see how well it has been managed. When the next ballot issue comes up for Land for Maine's Future, I urge you to vote for it. This is one place where tax dollars have been used well, and it helps to ensure that the natural beauties of Maine will be there for posterity.

An e-mail from the Rev. Earl Bell relates that this coming Saturday, Sept. 24, the ladies of the West Bethel Union Church will be busy preparing their last public supper at the church for this 2005 season. So, the public is invited to enjoy a great supper meal. Nancy Grover is in charge of the kitchen details and many of the ladies prepare a variety of pies for dessert.

By the way, the West Bethel church ladies had a very successful cookie walk at the Harvest Fest last Saturday. Every cookie was sold in short order.

Speaking of the Harvest Fest, it appeared to be a great success, in spite of iffy weather. I spent the morning hours at Pat Doonen's barn, which was part of the Historical Society's barn tour. We had a pleasant time chatting while I spun, with Pat frequently stopping to show visitors around the great old barn. Later I checked in at the booth of Sunday River Alpacos on the Bethel Common and spun some raw alpaca while people flocked around Liam and Aladdin. I'm told that all the chowder was scarfed up, as well as slices of pie from the apple pie contest. (Winners elsewhere in this paper.)

We hear that the Pleasant Valley Grange won third prize at the Grange Exhibit at Oxford County Fair last week. Good job!

Thanks to those of you who have called or e-mailed. I hope to hear from more of you with news of your lives. Call 838-3011, or e-mail dhoeh@megalink.net.

Newry

On my way home from Bethel on Tuesday, another blue heron was at the foot of my driveway. I don't know why he walks around in that spot, but Bear River is very close as are the little ponds on Cliff Akers' property.

A few hummingbirds were still here on Sunday. They are probably on their way to their winter grounds. I did tell one of them to stop and circle Janis Swan Black's home in Zephyrhills, Fla., and tip its wings as a greeting from me. Janis, let me know if you did see it.

John and Nancy Wight held a family cookout at their home for Katie Wight, who is going into her fourth year at Massachusetts Pharmaceutical College, Boston, Mass.

Kurt Wight is attending the University of Maine at Orono.

John and Nancy Wight held a joint birthday party for Jason (Sept. 14) and Jordan (Sept. 17, her second birthday) Berry at their home. The party was hosted by Sarah Berry. Those attending were Jason, Sarah, Jordan, and Payton Berry; Carri Frechette; Mike Wight; Retta Berry; Ed Powers; Devin Berry; Dani and Terri Littlehale; Brad, Brenda and Kevin Wight; Mark McPherson and Courtney; John and Nancy Wight. Sending gifts were Scott and Rocky Berry and Chou, Mandy Berry, Staci Littlehale and Den and Rita Wilson.

A bridal shower was given Retta Berry on Sunday, Sept. 18, by Chris Blake and Kathy Cummings at Chris' home. Those attending were Marjorie and Erin Osgood, Nathalie, Elise and Nicole Berry, Anita Clark, Nancy Wight, Kim Harrington and Mallory Blake. Sending a gift was Sarah Barry.

Gas prices are going down — $2.70 range at a station in Mexico last week.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

One of my fondest memories of when I was a little kid is when my mother would take me uptown for an ice cream on Saturday afternoon. Admittedly that was many years ago, though much more recent than the horse and buggy days as my kids seem to think. It was a much simpler time, at least for me.

I came from the era of the soda fountain which was a delightful experience that I'm afraid is lost on the youngsters of today. I imagine if you mention soda fountain to a kid now, they would immediately conjure up an image of a municipal fountain spurting Pepsi or Coke.

But in my day it was a counter with high stools and behind the counter there were tall black and chrome spigots for dispensing soda and sweet syrups, a lot of stainless steel and always a huge mirror on the wall. In fact, in Norway alone, there were six businesses with soda fountains. In those olden days we didn't know much about high fat and cholesterol and could look ourselves right in the eye while we consumed the artery clogging sweetness.

Anyway, I was talking about a fond memory of going to a soda fountain with my mother. If it was just ice cream we were after we went to Ashton's Drug Store or Fletchers. If there was a need to combine shopping with our mission we got the ice cream at Newberry's or Stone's Drug Store. Once in a great while we would end up at Barjo's Restaurant or venture all the way down to the other end of Main Street to Harlow's.

For all the options of where to buy ice cream there were not that many choices on what kind of ice cream to buy. The menus consisted of vanilla, chocolate, strawberry, coffee, and fudge ripple, sometimes pistachio and at Barjo's, my personal favorite, banana. All hard serve, no low fat.

Later, when I was old enough to ride a bicycle, Lyndon Spinney had opened the Dairy Joy and introduced the area to soft serve. I thought I was a big shot to pedal my bike there and get something different. The flavors were vanilla, chocolate, vanilla and chocolate twist and sometimes strawberry and coffee. I always chose the twist.

Now, everything has changed. The soda fountain and Dairy Joy are long gone replaced by seasonal ice cream stands. The menus are vast and the flavor options are endless. When I go to one of these ice cream stands it takes me at least a half hour of standing in the hot sun just to decide what I want.

There is hard serve, soft serve, frozen yogurt, frozen custard, sherbet, Dole whip, low fat, no fat and reduced cholesterol. There are anywhere from 20 to 30 flavors of hard serve, several options for soft serve and at some of the stands there is a sign boasting 24 different flavors that can be added to soft serve.

I'm not sure I would trust the other 2% who are not buying ice cream.

Mind boggling, isn't it? And it doesn't stop there. The consumers have a choice of cones too; regular waffle or sugar cones and at some stands that choice expands to chocolate covered cones or chocolate and nut covered cones. If you can't make up your mind, you can always have your ice cream in a dish.

Then you can add the choice of chocolate or colored sprinkles (we used to call them jimmies). If that's not enough you can have several different types of candy mixed into your ice cream or you can mix your ice cream in with your favorite flavor slush.

On top of all those options there are the old standbys like sundaes, parfaits, milk shakes and good old banana splits.

Buying your ice cream in the supermarket isn't a whole lot easier. There you will find several brand names, many flavors, premium, gourmet, low fat, no fat, in-between fat, Italian ice, and ice milk. I won't even bother to go into the ice cream desserts, ice cream bars, sandwiches and a whole slew of other frozen concoctions.

Is it any wonder that ice cream is an $11 billion retail industry? To put that into a different perspective, each American consumes a yearly average of 23.2 quarts of ice cream, ice milk, soft serve and other commercially produced frozen dairy products.

Considering that 98% of all households in America purchase ice cream, I would guess that some of us are consuming a little more than our 23.2 quarts a year. I'm not sure I would trust the other 2% who are not buying ice cream.

It's probably not too hard to figure out that the United States ranks number one in the top 10 ice cream consuming countries in the world. It may surprise you though, that the next 9 in order of top consumption are New Zealand, Denmark, Australia, Belgium, Sweden, Canada, Norway (the country, not where I grew up) Ireland and Switzerland.

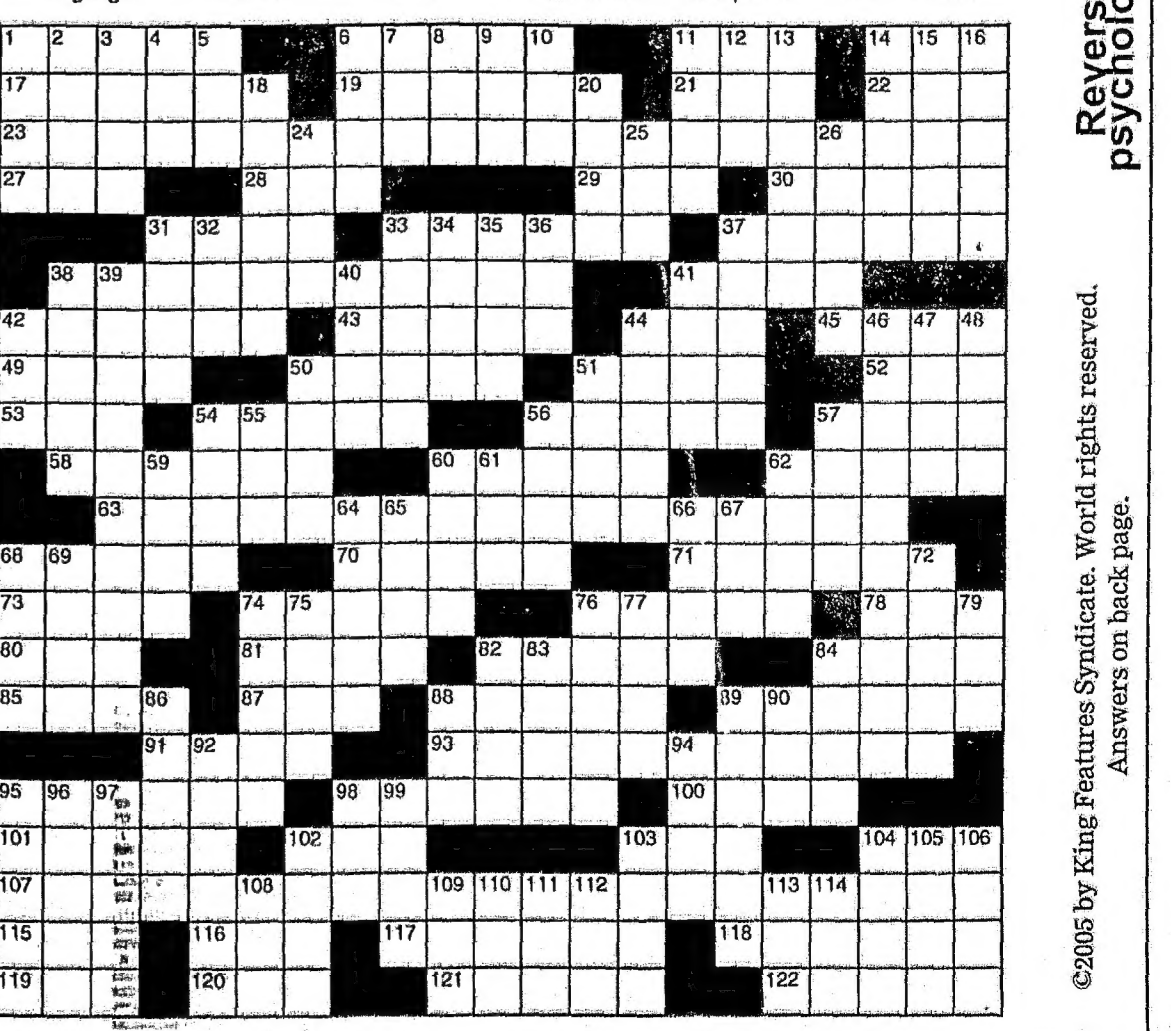

A couple of other interesting ice cream facts are children ages 2 thru 12 and adults 45 and over eat the most ice cream per person. The top three cities in America that purchase the most ice cream on a per capita basis are Portland, Oregon, St. Louis, Missouri and Seattle, Washington.

And believe it or not, the average number of licks it takes to polish off a single scoop ice cream cone is approximately 50. Here is the most interesting fact of all, in spite of all the choices of ice cream available, vanilla is still the world's favorite.

So no matter what your favorite flavor, choice of cone, what you mix in or don't mix in, or how many licks it takes you to eat an ice cream cone, just keep consuming that ice cream. The way I see it we should all do our duty and eat at least 23.2 quarts of ice cream this year so we can make sure this great country of ours will remain #1.

Authors note: Many thanks to Pat Coffin for the ice cream idea.

Not many people were at the snowmobile meeting on Sunday evening. When the schedule of clearing trails for the upcoming winter is available I'll try to get one and list the "work weekends" for this fall.

The hiking and camping season is still with us. There are still lots of cars at the Grafton Loop Trail when I drive by, as well as lots of cars hauling campers on Route 2 and Route 26.

The Dunn's attended the car races in Loudon, N.H. last weekend.

Hi to Jim and Mary Lou.

Recently, I have had several people mention that they read this column. I enjoy writing it because I want to let people know what has happened in town and what events are coming up. I know I like to read the other columns from the surrounding towns. The names are not always familiar to me but it is always interesting to find out what else is going on in the area.

My brother, Steve McLain, had a call from his son, Stephen. Stephen was headed to Tennessee to pick up his wife and children. They have been staying with her family since the hurricane passed through Mississippi. Things have settled down enough for them to return home.

I had an e-mail from Sue Corriveau about a recent birthday party. Mallory Corriveau, daughter of Fred and Sue Corriveau, celebrated her 7th birthday with an early party over the weekend. Mallory's birthday is really on Sept. 20. Besides all her school friends and family from Gilead, her grandparents and her Aunt Lori and Uncle Dave from Portsmouth, N.H., came. Mallory is the granddaughter of Fernand and Beverley Corriveau of Gilead. She takes horse-riding lessons from Carole Mason of Bethel and just loves it. Carole has three beautiful horses and Mallory has a favorite. Her favorite horse, Moses, was a guest at the party. All the kids attending the party had a chance to ride Moses. Of course, there was one big kid, Fred, who also had to take a turn at having fun riding. They want to pass on a big thank you to everyone who shared in Mallory's special day.

Hugh and I took a trip this past weekend to Ellsworth, to visit our grandson, Ben Chapman, and his mom, Elena Martin. Besides wanting to see them, we wanted to check out their new house. Elena and Jon bought the house in the beginning of the summer and everyone has been so busy it was hard to schedule a good time to get over to visit. Jon has two boys, Greg and Ryan. The house is beautiful and big enough for them and the three boys. On the way over, we went to Bangor and down 1A to Ellsworth. On our return trip, we decided to come home by way of Bucksport, Belfast and up through Waterville. There was too much construction on Route 1A.

Hugh's sister, Mary Lou Berry of Bethel, called us at the end of the week and invited us to stop by on our way home from Ellsworth to visit it with her and the rest of the family that was there for the weekend. When we got there, we could see that Hi and Mary Lou had a houseful. There were Mary Lou's children and spouses, grandchildren and spouses and great-grandchildren.

Maxine Corriveau has returned home from Ledgeview Living Center. It is good to know that she is back in town. It was suggested that a donation box be set up at the GHS Potluck Supper. Maxine has been a member of this community for several years and has served as a member of the school board and as a ballot clerk for many of those years. This is a way to show the appreciation of the town for all those years. In years past, the town had a store or gathering place and whenever a member of the community was in this situation, the residents of the town came forward to show their support in the form of either flowers, food basket or monetary gift.

Historical Society

This Saturday, Sept. 24, is the Potluck Supper followed by the GHS annual meeting. Hopefully, there will be a big turnout for the supper. Just bring a main dish, salad or dessert. This event will give everyone a chance to get together and visit with their neighbors. The GHS is always open for suggestions for events for next year. We will be setting up the schedule, so let your ideas be known.

The last event of the year is the Cemetery Tour to be held on Oct. 29. The meeting place is at the Town Hall at 2 p.m.

Planning Board

There will be a regular meeting of the Planning Board on Oct. 6 at the Town Hall beginning at 7 p.m. Applications should be submitted prior to the meeting, if possible. There are presently two openings for membership on the Board. Please contact Jack Puca at 836 2729 for information.

Andover

by Melinda
Averill
Attention
Parents and Friends of Andover
Elementary School:

Mr. Emery, the coach of the Andover School's soccer team, is looking for some help officiating home soccer games this year. If you're interested, you may contact him at school or at home. The schedule for home games is as follows: Sept. 26, Oct. 4, and Oct. 6. Home games begin around 4 p.m. and end around 5.

The following article was sent to me by the Andover Service Circle president: On behalf of Andover Service Circle (ASC), Andrea Bretz Savitz, president of the group, wishes to extend to the community a heartfelt thanks to all those who supported Andover by coming out to the Circle's Pancake Breakfast on Aug. 7 of Olde Homes Day's weekend. Further, gratitude is extended to all who placed orders for the 2006 ASC Community Calendar, thus making the fund-raising campaign one of the Circle's best to date. And, she reminds us that 100 percent of earnings, above the actual cost of ASC fundraisers, go back into the community in the form of civic-minded giving due to the dedication of a wonderful volunteer membership.

Recent changes in ASC membership have included the resignation of Betzee Lozier. She has moved to Portland, to explore an education in culinary arts. Betzee, always ready to lend a helping hand to a Circle project, is greatly missed. Because of the positive example set by Betzee and other members, ASC continues to grow.

The Circle happily announces the addition of five new members:

Laura Gisseman comes to the Circle by way of Massachusetts. She, with her husband, is a caretaker of the Merrill House, the first estate built in Andover. Some of her passions are incorporated into her job, as she caters to small parties of guests at the mansion and maintains the gardens. Additionally, she is a professional graphic designer, an Olde Home Day's second-place vegetable gardener, and an avid photographer.

Colleen Jaros has been, since marriage, a resident of Andover, where she raised her now-grown children and has played a continuously vital, yet quiet, community role. For instance, she was an important supporter in efforts to keep cross-country skiing, a sport that in part defines Andover, alive and well and available to all. Along with her history of service, her "NO1GRAM" license plate now defines her.

Susan Merrow comes to Andover from Portland. She, along with her husband, is renovating the former property of Donald and Doris French. Most residents know the place as the big formerly boarded-up yellow building in the center of Andover. Susan, as president of RRI, Inc., an engineering consultant firm, plans to open for business at the site when restorations are completed.

New ASC member Charlie Mills could be known alone as the mother of terrific kids, including the salutatorian of the 2005 graduating class of Telstar Regional High School, but the Circle will not allow for that. Charlie, along with her husband, has instilled ongoing and often anonymous community service into her family's way of life. Also, many a local patient has benefited from her compassionate care as a medical laboratory technician in area hospitals. For anyone who attended ASC's Olde Home Day's Pancake Breakfast, that was Charlie slaving over the stove next to veteran member Carol Holtzman.

Lastly, Joanne Rosato has joined the Circle. She comes from Massachusetts. Before moving, as a professional Registered Nurse with a strong commitment to patient advocacy, she held membership on a development team that set up a Multidisciplinary Patient Conferences program at the Breast Health Center (of North East Hospitals Corp.) in Danvers, Mass. Also, along with a nursing career that has been pursued in a variety of treatment settings, she has found time to become a Reiki master practitioner.

Andover Service Circle is proud and fortunate to have each of these women counted among its members.

Don't forget the fifth-grade Bottle Drive being held on Saturday, Sept. 24, starting at 9 a.m.

Quite a few people from town attended the Mountain Valley Falcons' home football game on Friday night.

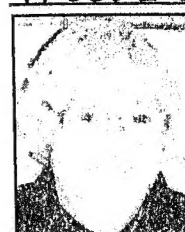

Happy birthday to Nita-sha Fifeild, today, Thursday. She is a seventh-grader out-to T.M.S.

Happy birthday also to my niece, Katie Mills, who turns 9 on Saturday.

Congratulations to Robert Morton and Brianne Drakus, who were married Saturday, Sept. 10.

Have a nice week-end.

I each got our winter's supply from the orchard. It did not take us long. They are big and red and still hard. A lot of sauce and pies are planned by all.

Oxford County Fair had some rainy weather but the crowds were there anyway. There are many improvements and the exhibits were all beautiful.

Sayward Lamb had some of his carvings there and demonstrated his art.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, Sept. 25, Jim Burke will lead the service. His subject will be "Confessions of a U.U. Christian." All are welcome. A coffee hour follows.

On Monday, Sept. 26, the women's group of the Universalist Church, the Goodwill Fellowship, will meet at the home of Peg Perham at 6 p.m. for a potluck supper. After the business meeting Pokeno will be played.

In preparation for the Fall Sale all are asked to bring a homemade article. So the sewing machines, the knitters and crocheters will be busy.

Pioneer Street surface has been ground up and smoothed out and will be tarred. It will be easier to get to the dump and also better walking for the many exercisers.

Beverly and Vince Stevens visited his sister, Narvie Stevens, at CMMC last week. We wish her well and a quick recovery to return home.

Hanover

Daryl and Deborah Johnson have moved from Hanover to Carthage.

The yard sale for Gardner Roberts Memorial Library was last Saturday. Despite threatening rain all day, about $500 was taken in to benefit the Library Moving Fund. A good selection of items remained at the end of the day and a few new donations came in, so library officials have decided to be open to customers again on Saturday, Oct. 22. The sale will begin at 9 a.m. and continue during the day.

The welcome back event for Barb and Irv Robinson was Sunday at Stony Brook Recreation. A delicious meal consisting of bean hole beans and fire pit meats that were prepared by Bruce and Shirley Powell and the crew at Stony Brook Recreation along with salads and other donated dishes was enjoyed by all attending. The tables were decorated by the Stony Brook crew and supplemented with balloons from We Party Supplies.

Gardner Roberts Memorial Library president, Donna Worcester, welcomed everyone to the event and thanked all those who made donations and other efforts. She welcomed Barb and Irv back and thanked them for their effort in raising over $6,000 for the Library Moving Fund.

Barb and Irv each told of events during their cross-country bicycle trip and answered questions from the attending crowd before cutting the welcome back cake.

Brian Gross won a 50/50 raffle and donated his share back to the effort. There was also an entertaining auction to close out the day's events.

As previously reported, the Town of Hanover is again having a booth at the River Valley Expo at Mountain Valley High School on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. Volunteers are needed to work in the Hanover booth on Friday evening and all day Saturday. Usually a shift lasts two or three hours. Anyone that can help should call Kelly or Clem at the Hanover Town-ice (364-8200).

Hanover resident Richard Duka has been named the assistant manager at Discount Barn in Rumford. Discount Barn recently opened at River Valley Crossing, formerly known as Abbott Plaza.

Mary and Walter Ruthbun from Tyringham, Mass., have been vacationing at Howard Pond while visiting friends and relatives in the area. Mary's brother, Mark Withers, lives in Hanover.

Cynthia Langley and Dennis Theriault were married on Saturday, Sept. 17. The couple plans to reside in Hanover.

Bill Fortin, along with his sister, Jeannette, and her husband, Bob Giasson, are from California and they vacationed in Hanover last week. Bill and Jeannette grew up in Hanover and Bob is a native of Rumford. Bob is an award-winning guitar player who previously played with the late Dick Curless. Last weekend, Bob played with the Arsenal Family at the Snowshoe Club in Rumford.

Hi Readers. On Wednesday, Sept. 14, the Stoneham Planning Board met at the Town Office to discuss and to vote on a few applications. Six members attended.

Albert and I went to Nelson's camp at Big Brook, Wilsons Mills, this past weekend. There were six of us and two dogs. Albert, Eleanor, Albert, Jr., Eric Nelson and Erin Specht, and Cathy Beaudoin and Billie and Sophia, who loved playing Frisbee. We did not see any moose, deer or bear but we had a good time. We had not been up to camp for about two years.

There is still a lot of logging going on up there. We were lucky not to have met any big trucks, especially on the camp road. Thanks, Genie, for having us. You are a good host and cook. Beverly Chapman took care of Katie for us, also Dale, and thanks, guys.

Dale and Kitty Nelson went to Boston this past weekend, bringing Matthew to his college. What a nice weekend all around.

Dean Saunders has been helping Albert load the truck for wood deliveries the past few days. He also has been working for Frances Grant and Jo Ann Hartford, and Brenda Files.

Frances Grant and Eleanor Nelson went to Fryeburg last Wednesday on business.

We heard this past week that Lois Niemi is in the Maine Medical Hospital in Portland. We hope you are getting the help you need to get better, Lois.

Mason

by Richard Grover
A while ago, Mona found out that Phil Rolfe had an old upright piano that he wanted to give away to someone who wanted one. We went and looked at it, and Mona decided she really wanted it if we could get it into one of our downstairs bedrooms. Only trouble was, that piano is some heavy; seems like a ton and a half, at least. Well, probably not quite as heavy as that.

Phil said, "No sweat. We'll pick a weekend evening, and I'll round up some rugged young fellas, and we'll get that sucker loaded into my pickup and bring it up." Well, last Saturday was the day. I, rather belatedly, thought to get the piano length and width measurements from Phil and traced an outline onto a piece of cardboard. I laid the cardboard tracing on the floor and tried to fit it through the doors, the hall and into the bedroom. No way was it going to make it around the corner and through the door. We have one wall in the living room where the piano would fit, but then nothing else fit right.

I tried to phone Phil and tell him the piano was just too big and we couldn't take it. Too late! No answer on his phone because they had already left with the piano in the truck. Shortly, Matt Ludden (one of the rugged young fellas) came in, and we explained the problem. "No sweat!" he said. "I think we can tip the piano on one end and work it though the doors that way. "Do you think that would damage the workings of it?" Mona said.

"I don't think so, because everything is solid in there."

"Well, let's give it a try." Phil brought the truck up to the back door, and Neil Phelps "jiggled the truck" around closer to the door, where a couple planks would reach from the tailgate to the living room threshold. Then the young rugged fellas (Matt, Neil and Jim Cyr), with Phil's coaching, got the piano onto the planks and rolled it into the living room.

With much discussion, coaxing, pushing, pulling and lifting, the piano was laid on end and eased, just barely, through the doors and into place in the bedroom. While this was all going on, Mona was leafing through the old sheet music in the piano seat and exclaiming like a kid in a candy store. Now, thanks to Phil and the "young rugged fellas" we have a good old piano in the bedroom, and Mona is playing a bunch of those old World War II era songs. Sorta' grabs you by the heart-strings, doesn't it!

Sunday, we were in Portland all day. They were having an air show at the Portland Jetport, and the CAP squadron was assisting with security on the aircraft parking ramp at the general aviation end of the airport. They needed all the help they could get in manning the checkpoints separating the air show area from the rest of the Jetport aircraft parking and other flight line facilities. Hence, I spent the day standing by a rope on the general aviation parking ramp and watching the proceedings around the covey of general aviation, old Air Force, and other restored retired military aircraft on display. While I was thus engaged, Mona was shopping. She returned to the flight line in time to see the Air Force KC-135 and F-15 take off with mighty jet engine roars and trails of smoke and cloud vapor. Finally, we watched the venerable B-17 and B-24 start

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing
The Westies Senior League of West Paris and surrounding area shut out the Auburn team 7-0 at "The Field of Dreams" in Harrison sports complex on Sept. 7. The team played under the lights at the park, which was donated for this event.

This was the final playoff of the season and a good crowd was on hand to watch the match. Some of the highlights were the only homerun in the game, made by Kyle Keniston and at least one double by Brian Cox. Pitchers for the Westies were Mike Godin and Mark Rabon.

Rick Wing was the oldest player in this game; he is 50. The MSBL (Major Senior Baseball League) is a national league; you must be at least 25 years old to play. Some of the league players are 50 or older.

It was very enjoyable and I am glad I did not miss it.

A birthday party was held for Claribel Poland, South Woodstock and her daughter, Beverly Dayton, Ga., as their birthdays are two days apart. It was a family party held at Ken Poland's home in West Paris.

A surprise of the day was Beverly's two children, Mathew and Danielle, who came from out of state for the occasion. Claribel's whole family attended including Howard Dayton, from Ga. There are several grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren. Claribel has four children, Leon Poland, Beverly Dayton, Ken Poland and Donna Kushiba. They all had a wonderful time, as they do not get together very often. Claribel received 27 phone calls from friends and relatives and oodles of cards. She is 93 years young. Claribel is my sister-in-law, and I wish her the best of everything.

Kellie Wing and Vinny Lima attended a Red Sox game at Fenway Park recently. The Sox lost but they had a fun time.

A bridal shower was tendered Bethany Lobb at her home this month. She received many nice gifts. She will be married to Devin Benson on Saturday, Sept. 24. I wish her and Devin much luck and happiness in the future together.

I was sorry to hear of the disaster in the South. Hopefully, they will get back to normal soon.

Thanks to Mike Nadeau for providing some fill at the corner by the Union Church.

Lots of leaves are changing color. Winter cannot be far away.

Quote of the Week: "I have learned that when you say 'I am not supposed to tell you this, but...' you have said too much already."

Waterford

by Rockie Graham
While I still remember, I want to send birthday greetings to Ryan Perkins of Stoneham.

Lucy Nordahl was in Conway, N.H., for a class on quilting on Sept. 17. She enjoyed the class.

Rudi Honkala was home on Sept. 20 to see if he could get around OK at home without extra help.

On Sept. 18, Rudi and Barbara Honkala attended a meeting of the Finnish-American Society of Maine. Rudi was able to get into and out of the car without assistance.

Ramona Curtis Clemens of Ticonderoga, N.Y., and her daughter, Doris Ann, visited with Richard and Pat Kimball on Sept. 17.

"Butch" Crockett and Ann Roy were married on Sept. 10 and just returned this past weekend from their honeymoon.

The Grange supper schedule is as follows: Saturday, Oct. 8, ham harvest supper; Oct. 23, beef stew; and Nov. 12 turkey supper with all the fixings.

Have a nice week and enjoy the nice weather. God Bless the Troops.

This Thursday, the 25th, the Mountain Poets will meet at the Fare Share Commons on Main Street in Norway. All poets are welcome. Readings begin at 7 p.m. For more information, call Lisa Moore at 743-9808 or Rockie Graham at 743-0583.

Don't forget the Common Ground Fair this weekend. It is only open Friday to Sunday in Unity. It's a long trip but well worth it.

Thank you to all Waterford, Stoneham, Albany and Mason residents who helped us reach the unprecedented amount of 11 cardboard bins, full, for the month of August. It was a lot of work, but we did it. We beat the pants off of Bethel!

That is all for this week. Have a great week and enjoy this great weather we have been having.

East Bethel

by Nancy Mercer
Alder River Grange lost its famous roll maker, Charlene Haines, last week. Everyone will miss her.

Roger Twitchell was in Stephens Memorial Hospital overnight for observation.

Shirley Lowe, Millie Jackson, Nancy Kimball, Roger and Louise Twitchell and Nancy Mercer attended the Bethel Senior Citizens Club meeting at North Waterford on Sept. 14.

Alder River Grange will join Pleasant Valley Grange in West Bethel for installation of officers on Sept. 30 at 7 p.m. There will be no supper.

Thanks, a great big one, to Minot and Nellie of Oxford Grange and Gloria Crockett for helping with the supper on Sept. 17. There was a turnout crowd.

Sonny, Peter and Arthur all enjoyed having people come and look at their barns on the 17th.

I must say, I never expected to hear and see a high-speed chase down through East Bethel. The car and chase car, State Police, roared down through Bean's Corner and on up the Middle Intervale Road, late afternoon on the 17th.

Marilyn Mollicone of Augusta visited Nina Mollicone on Sept. 17 and 18.

Lucy Nordahl was in Conway, N.H., for a class on quilting on Sept. 17. She enjoyed the class.

From the Mundt-Allen Post

An all-day ATV Safety Course, sponsored by the Roxbury ATV Riders Club, was held in the Legion Hall on Sunday, Sept. 11. Ten young people, who had been accompanied by parents, were awarded certificates of completion for the course.

The September meeting for the Mundt-Allen Post 81 was held on Tuesday, Sept. 13, beginning with a flag disposal ceremony at 5:30 p.m. Many flags were properly retired, thanks to the generous donation by Brooks Bros. of a large receptacle suitable for the burning.

A potluck dinner was enjoyed by the membership following the ceremony, and the evening was concluded by a short general meeting. The executive committee of the post had met the week prior to deal with routine matters and bring to the general membership other items requiring discussion and/or a vote.

The next scheduled meeting will be a potluck dinner at the Legion Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 11.

From the Telstar Alumni Association

The Telstar Alumni Association held its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 13, in the conference room at Telstar Regional High School.

Alumni Day, which was held on Aug. 13, was well attended and a good day for all who were in attendance.

The Alumni Association is searching for older yearbooks, to complete our set, as follows: 1971, 1979, 1984, 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1990, 1992, 1997, 1998 and 2000. If anyone has any of these yearbooks that they would be willing to donate, so we can have a complete set, they can be dropped off at the high school with a note for "Alumni Association."

On Saturday, Oct. 22, the Alumni Association will host a fall dance from 8 to 12 p.m. at the Locke Mills Legion Hall. Details are still in the works, but this is our major fundraiser for money for our Memorial Fund. We will be doing door prizes and the 50/50 raffle.

SPRUCE MOUNTAIN MOTOSPORTS 4x4—Sixteen competitors and more than 100 spectators turned out for the first annual 4x4 challenge Sept. 3, presented by Spruce Mountain Motosports in Woodstock. The course consisted of six main events, the Vertical Wall, Log Jam, Hill Climb, Extreme Rock Crawling x2, Muddy Valley and the Broken Bridge. The 4x4 rigs competing included several Jeep CJ 5s, some stock and some beefed up. There was a Jeep CJ7, owned by Amos Kimball of East Bethel; a Jeep Cherokee; a '60s Ford Bronco driven by Travis Gaudreau; and multi-make modified pickup trucks. There were four trophies awarded. members present. President Nancy Mercer conducted the meeting and led the salute to the flag. Reports were given by Jane Hosterman and Arlene Lowell. The next meeting will be Oct. 12 at the West Bethel Grange Hall. The meeting will start at 11 a.m.

The speaker was Anita Wiles from the Western Agency on Aging. She spoke on the New Medicare Prescription Drug Program and on Plan D. The speaker next meeting will continue with more information on this plan. Members asked several questions, as this plan is very hard to understand.

The auction was held with Nancy Mercer as the auctioneer. About $60 was realized from the auction.

The door prize was won by Arlene Lowell.

September birthdays are: Beatrice Lowell, Shirley Lowell, Doris Mills, Roger Twitchell and Studie Cross.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The weather forecast for the 8th annual Bethel Harvest Fest and Chowdah Cook-off was pretty awful. The chamber's Board of Directors decided on Thursday morning to go ahead with the festival anyway, as the postponement options were not good. We made arrangements to rent more tents to make the common as weatherproof as possible, especially for the Chowdah Cook-off and Apple Pie Contest. As it turned out, the weather was perfect for chowder eating, and we escaped the rain. Many thanks to Reggie Brown for donating the tent to keep our chainsaw carver dry.

The success of the event is due to so many individuals and businesses and the chamber is extremely grateful to all of them. First, we need to thank our sponsors: Allen's Coffee Brandy and representative Dolly Bois, who attended and had several raffle giveaways; US Foodservice and representatives Larry Angelo and Rich McKenney, who served as two of our judges; Oxford Networks; Hancock Lumber and representatives Mike Halle and Lisa Maliska, who also had some great raffle giveaways; and CB Kenworth.

From the Maine Veterans' Home

The Western Maine Veterans' Advisory Committee is once again offering a chance to honor friends and loved ones by lighting a bulb on the "Tree of Caring" at our Veterans' Home in South Paris at Christmastime.

Bulbs in memory of a deceased loved one, who need not be a veteran, or to honor a special person who is still with us, are $5 each. The funds received from this program will be used exclusively for special activities and needs of the residents at the home.

To purchase a bulb or for more information, please contact Pat Young at 743-8084. Make checks payable to the Western Maine Veterans' Advisory Committee.

The tree lighting will be held at the Maine Veterans' Home at 477 High Street, South Paris, on Friday, Dec. 9, at 7 p.m.

Music and refreshments will be served in the multi-purpose room following the tree lighting.

The prior seasons of our "Tree of caring" have been a great success and have added to the enjoyment of the residents as well as covering some personal needs for a number of them.

Thanks to all who so generously made our tree a highlight of the past three seasons and may you all have a healthy, happy, and joyous holiday.

Pat Young, VFW Post 9787 Ladies Auxiliary, Tree Bulb chairman, 159 Paris Hill Road, South Paris, 743-8084. Jon Alyce Rich, co-chairman, American Legion Post 72, Maine Veterans' Home, 477 High Street, South Paris, 743-6300.

From the U.M. Cooperative Extension

Many organizations and community groups rely on volunteer cooks for a variety of food events for fundraising, fellowship, or other service to the community. But cooking for a crowd is tricky. Nonprofit, volunteer-run groups that prepare food to be served or sold to the public must be sure that the food is safe and of high quality. Food that is not prepared safely may lead to food-borne illness. While food-borne illness can be as mild as a stomach ache, it can be much more serious and sometimes fatal. Unsafe food can also ruin a group's reputation and its finances.

To help organizations provide safe food, the University of Maine Cooperative Extension is offering a workshop, "Cooking for Crowds: A Volunteer's Guide to Safe Food Handling." Participants will learn food safety guidelines for planning and purchasing; storing food supplies; preparing food, transporting, storing and serving cooked foods; and handling leftovers. They will also receive a manual covering these guidelines. The workshop is appropriate for nonprofit food providers such as fire departments, schools, and religious and community organizations. Wendy Legg Pollock, Extension educator, will present the workshop.

The workshop will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 5, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Extension Office on Olson Road, South Paris. The cost of the workshop is $5 per person. Scholarships are available. Registration and fees are due by Sept. 30. Make checks payable to OCEA (Oxford County Extension Association) and mail to UM Cooperative Extension, 9 Olson Road, South Paris, ME 04281. For more information, call the Extension office at 743-6329 or (800) 287-1482.

From Gould Academy

At a reception attended by Gould faculty, staff, parents, and local residents on Wednesday, Aug. 31, Gould Academy introduced its new faculty and staff appointments for the 2005-2006 school year.

The new faculty and staff come from a diversity of backgrounds, and bring a wide array of talents to the Gould and Bethel communities.

Kirk Daulerio comes to Gould fully prepared for his new role as Director of College Counseling. For the past five years, Kirk served as the Regional Director of Admissions at the University of Pennsylvania. His familiarity with the undergraduate admissions process and experience as an athletic liaison will bring a new dimension of expertise to the college counseling program at Gould.

Wendy Niskanen brings to Gould her expansive background in science, education, and nursing. As an educator for elementary, middle and college students, and most recently, a nurse at the Androscoggin Valley Hospital, Wendy's experience as a nurse and educator makes her an exciting addition to the Gould Health Center staff.

Adrienne Schibles is the new Associate Athletic Director at Gould. Her considerable background in physical education is a special asset to Gould's athletic program, and the women's basketball team in particular. For the past several years Adrienne was the head basketball coach, director of physical education, and assistant professor of physical education at Swarthmore College.

Alec Newell '88 returns this year to his Alma Mater as a teacher of history and the head of Holden dormitory. A popular "faculty member at Telstar High School, he was named "Teacher of the Year" by the student council in 2002, 2003, and 2004. Before Telstar, Alec served as an English/History teacher at Kents Hill School for five years, where he was honored with "Men's Basketball Coach of the Year" in 2000, by the Central Maine newspapers.

Alison Londergan is a new addition to the Office of Communications. Alison brings experience as a reporter and writing coach to her new job, in which she manages Gould's website content and works in other ways to keep Gould families and the general public informed about events and programs at Gould.

Scot Fuller is the newest member of Gould's Performing Arts Department. In addition to his B.M. from the USM School of Music, Scott brings international experience to his new role. In recent years Scott taught music appreciation, theory, and gave instrumental instruction to middle and high school students in the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Brenda Clark joins the Gould community in a new role this year as a teacher of English as a Second Language (ESL). After living in Gehring Hall for two years with her husband Josh (Director of Financial Aid), Brenda is well acquainted with the Gould community. Brenda will draw on her years of experience as a classroom teacher as she works closely with international students to improve their English language skills.

Jason Chase is Gould's new Director of Technology. Having started in June, Jason brings with him experience from a career in software engineering, systems integration, and project management. In addition to maintaining and improving Gould's network, Jason will also teach classes in computer science.

Nick Ramharter is no stranger to Gould, but is taking on a new role this year in the Admissions Office. As the point person for contact with families interested in Gould, Nick's years of experience as a teacher and coach help him set visiting families at ease and juggle his many responsibilities. Nick will also coach soccer this fall.

Laurie Bailey is the director of the new Church Street Daycare Center in the basement of Ordway Hall on the Gould campus. With extensive experience as a daycare provider, Laurie will work with the children of both Gould faculty and local residents who have enrolled in the daycare program.

Peter Hedden joins the Gould Science Department this year after teaching middle school science at Telstar for the past three years. He has lived in Gehring Hall with his wife, Spanish teacher and Farm & Forest Program Director Tracey Wilkerson for a number of years. In addition to his role as teacher and dorm parent, Peter will coach the golf team this fall. Gould will also call on Peter for his outdoor expertise as a former Hurricane Island Outward Bound course director.

Patrick Ely joins the Gould faculty as a math and science intern for the 2005-2006 school year. A recent graduate of Colby College, Patrick will live in Holden dormitory as he embarks on his teaching career.

Ellen Terry '80 returns to Gould to join the Modern and Classical Languages department as a teacher of French. After years of teaching in the Virginia area, Ellen now lives in her old boarding school home, Gehring Hall.

Jo-Ann Korhonen will take on two roles at Gould this year. In one of her roles, she will manage the equipment room in the Field House, keeping Gould's athletes looking sharp. In addition to her role as the manager of the equipment room, she will also apply her knowledge as a former paramedic as she assists the Gould Health Center staff throughout the year.

From the Roxbury ATV Riders

This is a new monthly column, one in which we hope to inform fellow ATVers about our club and the responsibilities of ATV riding.

Monthly meetings are held at the home of Mike and Wanda Worthley on the Roxbury Notch Road in Roxbury. The club was established in September 2004 with a current membership of 185. We have a slate of officers and a board and are fully recognized by the state of Maine as a nonprofit, which qualifies our club for grants through the state.

The goal of the club is to teach responsible riding, acquire, create and improve trails for ATVers; keep riders up to date of ATV laws; notify members of various rides throughout the state; make donations to various organizations, hold fundraisers to fund the work that we do; and hold club rides.

The $20 yearly membership is divided between the club and ATV Maine. As a member, you receive an I.D. card, ATV decal, monthly newsletters of club minutes and events, and a membership to the ATV Maine Newspaper and a $200 life insurance.

Over the past year fundraisers have included: raffles of an ice auger; a tow behind sled; a 50/50 raffle that netted $1,323 to the winner on June 1; a cord of wood; week stay at Ellis Pond Variety camps; food booth at the spring mud run in Dixfield; booth and parade in the Andover Olde Home Days; a weekend ride in Fort Fairfield; sponsored ATV safety courses in Andover and Bethel; held yard sales and bottle drives; appeared at sportsmen's shows; worked with snowmobile clubs to create bridges and trails; sold calendars for ATV Maine, donated funds to Special Olympics, local little leagues and the Donald Ryerson Children's Welfare Fund. We kept Buster's Beach cleared of trash in exchange for a donation from the Town of Roxbury, held poker runs, cleared many miles of trails and placed culverts where needed. We have built and improved trail bridges for access. This is just a little bit of what we have done over the past 12 months. Quite a bit for a new club!

On Sept. 10, a poker run was held at the Roxbury Park and Ride and ended at the Silver Lake Campground. About 40 people attended.

On Sept. 11, a safety course was held at the Mundt-Allen Legion Hall in Bethel. Children ages 10-16 needed to be accompanied by a parent. The course was taught by Perry Edwards.

On Sept. 17, John Huoy did GPS all our trails. We will be getting trail maps, which will be available to all our members. We are working on getting landowner permission into Newry for a trail system. There are many trails for members to ride in and around Andover, Roxbury and Rumford, etc.

On Oct. 15, there is a ride to Phillips (fall foliage ride; you can bring a lunch or buy one at the store. Contact Mike Worthley (545-2715) for more details.

Any landowner who either signs a written landowner permission form or gives verbal permission to two members, and there is a state trail marker on that trail, is covered by $400,000 worth of insurance through the state.

We encourage fellow ATVers to join a registered ATV club. If children are out riding, they need to wear a helmet and they need to have a certificate from an ATV safety course.

Our next meeting is scheduled for Friday, Oct. 7, 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mike and Wanda Worthley on the Roxbury Notch Road in Roxbury.

If you are interested in joining the Roxbury ATV Riders you can contact Mike or Wanda (545-2715); Klaus True (357-7874); Jane or Craig Ryerson (824-2613); or contact a member. Memberships are: Household $20, Associate $10 and Businesses $30.

We hope to keep you posted of our meetings, work parties and upcoming events.

Respect the owners who allow us to ride on their land. Whatever you take in please always take out with you. Don't drink and drive. Happy and Safe Riding.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
THE REWARDS OF HOME OWNERSHIP
People buy a home for many different reasons. They may want to put down roots in a community and create a sense of stability in their lives. Then there are the financial benefits of "forced" savings that builds up in the form of equity. In addition, the monthly cost of owning a house is usually much more stable and predictable than renting.

If you are considering the possibility of purchasing a home, begin by contacting a knowledgeable Realtor in your community. An important part of our job is to educate prospective buyers about the potential benefits and responsibilities of owning a home versus renting a house. We can help you determine your purchasing power and show you the best homes in your price range. We can also give you a side-by-side comparison of the cost of owning your own home versus what you pay for rent.

Perhaps the most compelling argument for buying a house is the sense of pride that comes from home ownership, the freedom to live in an environment that suits your likes and needs without getting permission from the landlord, not to mention the fact that when you improve your home, you benefit from the added value of the improvements instead of the landlord!

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771
